

Ads by Google

Clean Furniture | Cleaning Solution | Mildew Cleaner | Cleaner Products | Cleaning Ideas

Millions have already taken this amazing test

What's your Real Age?

Take the FREE TEST

RealAge®

HOME | SHOP | DIRECTORY | CALENDAR | CLASSIFIEDS | ADVERTISE | ARCHIVE | ABOUT US | SUBMISSIONS | CHICAGO | LOS ANGELES | SAN FRANCISCO

April 2008 | On Our Radar

Alchemistas of Clean

What's the best way to know — I mean really know — you're scrubbing that floor with an unadulterated, tried-and-true non-toxic product? By making it yourself, of course. Whether you're a DIY devotee or a scrupulous participant in eco-living (or, at best, both), hosting a Green Cleaning party may be in your not-so-distant future.

Last month, Women's Voices for the Earth launched their national Green Cleaning initiative to provide wanna-be-green cleaners around the world with the tools for staging chemi-free cleaning concoction get-togethers. Pledge to host a gathering and they'll arm you with an arsenal of instructions for turning basic household supplies into safe, effective agents of clean. To become the greenest hostess with the mostest on the block, or to attend an upcoming event in your area, visit womenandenvironment.org.

— Andrea Manitsas

Recommend this page to a friend

BOOKMARK RSS FEED

Top Ten pages recommended to friends:

1. Beyond Eco-Apartheid
2. The Good($) Life
3. Soft Drink for the 21st Century?

Search this site:

FREE SHIPPING OVER $50

Use code SHIPPING50

Be as NATURAL as you want to be

www.sephora.com

Ads by Google

Subscribe to Our Newsletter

To Find a Distribution Location

David Deida

Intensive May 23-25

Ads by Google

Beauty Secret of the Ages

Dr. Helen Invites You to Discover the 3 10:49 AM