

Experts List for ‘Household Hazards: Potential Hazards of Home Cleaning Products’

Report Contacts:

- Ann Blake, Ph.D., Environmental & Public Health Consulting, 510-769-7008, annblake@comcast.net
-
- Alexandra Gorman, M.A., Director of Science and Research, Women’s Voices for the Earth, Missoula, 406-396-1639, alex@womenandenvironment.org
-

General Information Contacts:

- Steve Ashkin, President of the Ashkin Group, Executive Director of Green Cleaning Network, Bloomington, IN 812-360-1919, steveashkin@ashkingroup.com
-
- Kate Davies, M.A., D. Phil., Director, Center for Creative Change, Antioch University in Seattle, specializes in rates of environmentally caused diseases such as asthma, 206-268-4811, kdavies@antiochseattle.edu
-
- Ruth A. Etzel, M.D. Ph.D. Medical Director of Research, Southcentral Foundation, 907-729-4955, raetzel@southcentralfoundation.com
-
- Robin Evans-Agnew, RN, MN, Director, Asthma and Environmental Health Program, American Lung Association of Washington State; Ph: 206-441-5100 x21; ragnew@alaw.org
-
- Catherine Karr, M.D., Ph.D., University of Washington, Pediatric Environmental Health Specialty Unit, 206-744-9377, ckarr@u.washington.edu
-
- Elise Miller, M.Ed., Executive director, Institute for Children’s Environmental Health; ph: 360-331-7904; emiller@iceh.org
-
- Urvashi Rangan, Ph.D. Consumers Union, Director of Consumer Reports Ecolabeling Project, 914-378-2211, rangur@consumer.org
-
- Ted Schettler, M.D., M.P.H., Science Director, Science and Environmental Health Network, 734-369-4166, tschettler@icg.org
-
- Anne Steinemann, Ph.D., Professor, Department of Civil & Environmental Engineering, Professor, Evans School of Public Affairs, Director, The Water Center, University of Washington, 206-616-2661, acstein@u.washington.edu